

Newsletter #8

Wow, the weeks are going by fast! As this virus continues to linger on, things are starting to open up a bit around the city but for now we are still keeping the church services online. There will be other decisions made for down the road, but I would caution us not to be in a hurry as we watch and wait to see how the community handles the first phase of resuming public activity.

Sock monkeys continue to be popular among our members and we will continue to make them as long as we have requests. Phone the office if you are looking to have one made.

This Sunday's worship will involve seeds. If you have a handful of them around you, I invite you to have them handy during the service. If not, you can still just follow along with the ones I will be using on screen.

Hopefully you will be able to enjoy some of the warmer weather now to get out and get some fresh air. They are still getting snow back East...I am not regretting the move!

Until next time,

I remain faithfully yours.

Lynn

Thank-you Arlea for helping us stay safe! Arlea has sold over 40 masks and to date, has raised $160.00 for the church☺

Also, for those with small children this web address offers Virtual Vacation Bible School:
